

STATE WATER POWER LAW FOUND ILLEGAL

SUPREME COURT DECLARES ACT SEEKING TO PLACE ALL WATER POWER RIGHTS IN STATE, UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

DECISION UNANIMOUS

All Justices Unite With Justice Timlin in Finding That Law Means State Appropriation Of Private Rights.

Madison, Jan. 30.—The supreme court of Wisconsin today declared the water power law enacted by the 1911 legislature unconstitutional. The law sought to vest in the state all rights to water powers heretofore held by corporations and individuals subject to lease.

Decision Unanimous.
The decision is by Justice Timlin and it was the unanimous conclusion of the Justices participating in making it. Justices Korwin and Barnes did not sit.

The court declared the law involved the wrong conception of the state interest in the power element of navigable waters and the capacity to deal with it.

The gist of the court's decision is summed up in the following: "The language of Justice Timlin's executive decision of all the questions involved."

State Appropriation.
"Thus the all prevailing necessary effect of such a chapter is to make property which is in fact private for a purpose declared to be public, without rendering any compensation therefor."

"The necessary effect, if enforced, and so the purpose, in a legal sense, of chapter 452 laws of 1911, brings state appropriation of the private property rights of riparian proprietors owning the banks of navigable rivers, in a manner not warranted by the fundamental laws, and those portions of the act which do not directly deal with the question of state title, being features designed to render such assertions effectual in all forms of inseparable unconstitutional entirety."

Enjoins Enforcement.
"The judgment enjoining enforcement of any part of the law, except as to future new interference without state permission, of streams navigable in fact but not in name."

"The legislative power to make laws," the court says, "is limited by state and national constitutions. Within that field it is supreme. The power of the court to determine when the legislature has exceeded such limitation is no supreme as that of the legislature within its legitimate fields."

Rights Vested in State.

The waterpower law of 1911 contemplated the repeal of all private and local laws granting waterpower rights and vested such rights in the state. The state, represented by the attorney general, held that the act does not assert the state's ownership of navigable waters but that the beneficial use and energy for that public use are held by the state in trust for the people. Power to regulate and issue waterpower rights is conferred by the act upon the state railroad commission.

Claimed Confiscation.

The plaintiff companies argued that the act is based upon the assumption that property worth now over $40,000,000, heretofore conceded to belong to riparians, is the property of the state. By this act all franchises and permits for dams are repealed. These are numbered by the hundreds throughout the state. Among cities and villages of importance affected are Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, Kaukauna, Kimberly and De Pere on the Fox; Kilbuck, Neokoma, Port Edwards, Grand Rapids, Stevens Point, Mosinee, Waunakee, Brookway, Merrill, Rhinelander and Eagle River on the Wisconsin; Marinette and Negaunee on the Menominee; Eau Claire, Chippewa Falls and Ladysmith on the Chippewa and Flambeau; Watertown and Janesville on the Rock, and others on the St. Louis and Croix.

Plaintiffs' Action.

The act provides a penalty of $50 a day for each day a dam, bridge or other obstruction is maintained over navigable waters without first obtaining a franchise from the state. The law was framed by a special committee of the 1909 legislature, Senator Paul Huston, one of the committee's members, filed a brief with the court setting forth the attitude of the legislature which enacted the law. The brief for the state was prepared by Deputy Attorney General Russell Jackson, with George Lines, Walter D. Corrigan and Theodore Kronshage, Milwaukee, as counsel.

Counsel for the plaintiffs were: H. R. Goggin, Grand Rapids, for the Waunakee Street Railroad Co.; Jackson, Milwaukee Co., Neokoma-Edwards Paper Co., and H. P. and George Koonig; Burr W. Jones, Madison, for the Southern Wisconsin Power Co.; Dunne & Wilcox for Chippewa Valley Light & Street Railway Co. Other prominent lawyers were of counsel.

President Arrived There This Morning And Will Deliver Four Important Speeches.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 30.—President Taft arrived in Columbus this morning at 4:15 this morning. A public reception at the hotel followed.

Has Big Reception.
Between two and three thousand persons shook hands with the President at the reception held at the Southern hotel immediately after his party had arrived there, according to secret service men who kept count. At the conclusion of the hand shaking Mr. Taft was slightly tired and rested for a few minutes.

Suffers With Cold.

Officials accompanying the President on his tour were much surprised to hear the report that had been circulated that Mr. Taft was suffering with pneumonia. His condition they said, was the same as present, as it was when he left Washington and should excite no anxiety.

COST OF FIRES TO CITY OF MILWAUKEE

"Milwaukee's Tribute" in Insurance Premiums and Fire Losses, Told in New Magazine.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 30.—Under the head, "Milwaukee's Tribute," James M. Sexton, writer of the vast fire loss in the Great Chicago fire, the first issue of "Fire Alarm," a magazine devoted to the subject of fire prevention and the monthly bulletin of the National Fire Insurance Association of North America, Mr. Sexton, the editor, was formerly assistant state fire marshal for Wisconsin.

"The fire loss in the city of Milwaukee for the year 1911, as shown by a report just issued, amounted to over $1,000,000," he writes. "There was over $2,000,000 paid in premiums by property owners for fire insurance, of which less than one-half was paid back in losses. This is in addition to the expense of fire protection and the support of the fire department makes Milwaukee's fire tax for the year 1911 amount to more than $2,500,000. In addition to this the report shows that six firemen lost their lives fighting the flames and a second man, if killed, would have been located in some foreign country and had this experience compared with practically every other city of the same class in which the loss would not average more than one-tenth, the people would be up in arms and a united effort would be made to avoid in the future what would be considered a calamity. However, Milwaukee's experience is the experience of almost every community in America, and yet what they are doing in foreign countries can and should be done in America."

MONITOR LAUNCHED HALF CENTURY AGO

Event Marked Inauguration of New Era in Naval Construction—First Boat With Revolving Turret.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Fifty years ago today, when one of the most important events in naval history, the launching of the famous iron-clad ship Monitor at Brooklyn, the construction of this craft marked the turning point in the great naval transition from the old wooden warships to the modern battleships of the dreadnought type.

The Monitor was the first fighter to be equipped with a revolving turret. A short time after she was completed there took place between her and the Merrimack in Hampton Roads, the first battle between armored warships. The Merrimack was an old wooden vessel converted by the Confederate government into an iron-clad ram. The result of the contest between the two vessels was somewhat of a "draw," but it settled the question of the superiority of any kind of iron-clad ship over the old wooden men-of-war. It immediately the nations of the world began constructing new iron vessels, and ever since there has been a competition on the one hand to build iron ships capable of destroying existing vessels, and on the other States to build ships capable of resisting them. Great Britain was easily first in the new departure, and has occupied that position for half a century, though closely pressed for first honors by the United States and Germany.

MILITIA PREVENTS ANY MORE RIOTING AT LAWRENCE TODAY

Entire City Is in Control of Troops And No Disturbances Are Reported as Mills Open.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 30.—No rioting of yesterday's rioting occurred today when the various textile mills opened their gates. The whole city was under control of the militia and any picketing near the mill district was stopped by soldiers. There appeared a slight increase in the number of employees who went to work as compared with yesterday. In the plaza district where a body of Syrians attempted to form a parade about the time the mills were opening the militia forced them to disperse at the point of the bayonet. Several strikers are said to have been hurt.

In the vicinity of the Arlington mills a crowd of strike sympathizers tried to stop the electric car service at Essex street the center of most of the rioting yesterday. All was quiet during the hours of the opening of the mills. The cars which ordinarily carried the employees to the mills were practically deserted.

The city was under martial rule as is possible under the Massachusetts statutes. Colonel Switzer had under his command nearly two whole regiments of soldiers totaling about 1,200 men.

Indianapolis, Jan. 30.—Further than to retort that the federal grand jury is investigating allegations that national labor leaders were connected with the McNamara brothers in the dynamiting conspiracy, United States District Attorney Charles W. Miller, today refused to comment on the news from Washington that Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor had been subpoenaed to appear here.

Curtis, mayor of Portland, and five aldermen of the city appeared in the supreme court today to answer to charges of alleged corruption in the city for the last month. The action against the six officials is brought under the new corrupt practices act which the complaint does not constitute criminal action, the only penalty being the invalidation of the municipal election and the disbarment of the convicted persons from holding of public office for a time. Should the supreme court sustain the complaint, however, the charges probably would be laid before the May grand jury and if the defendants were then indicted and convicted they would be liable, under the provisions of the new law, to fine and imprisonment.

WAGES LESS THAN SUBSISTENCE COST TO STEEL WORKERS

Sixty-five Per Cent of Employees of Steel Trust Live on Less Than $700 Per Year, Says Brandeis in Testimony.

Washington, Jan. 30.—That 65 per cent of the employees of the United States Steel corporation in the Pittsburgh district earn less than the actual cost of subsistence of the average American family in Pittsburgh was the calculation made at the steel trust hearing today by Louis D. Brandeis. "The Associated Charities of Pittsburgh have computed the cost of bare existence of a family—husband, a wife and three children—in that city at $768 a year," he said. "My working twelve hours a day, 365 days of the year, sixty-five per cent of the steel workers there earn $150 less than the amount actually required for the bare cost of living."

"How about other industries which pay an average of sixteen cents an hour," asked Attorney D. A. Reed, for the steel corporation. "We are not here to extol our neighbors. They are not under investigation. You are," retorted Mr. Brandeis.

Mr. Brandeis declared that in ten years the steel corporation had taken from the American people $350,000,000 in excess of a liberal profit on its investment.

"This enormous profit," he said, "has been used to grind down its employees to the misery of their present condition."

When Mr. Brandeis had finished, Attorney Reed for the steel corporation announced that in relief of its workmen was about to be undertaken.

Two Years Occupied in Examination of Books for Evidence Against President.

Following his conviction, he gave evidence before the grand jury here, which resulted in the indictment of Calvert Spensley, president of the bank, on a charge of making false statements to the bank examiner. That was in November, 1911. Since then, experts have been working on the books to determine whether or not the facts warranted the prosecution of Spensley. That point will now be decided in the report submitted by the department of justice at Washington.

EVIDENCE AGAINST DARROW NOT PUBLIC

Evidence Will Not Be Made Public Until Trial—Rumored That Franklin Had Confessed.

Los Angeles, Jan. 30.—Whether the indictments returned against Clarence S. Darrow, the Chicago attorney, by the county grand jury, were based on an alleged confession to that body by Bert H. Franklin, former McNamara defense detective, charged with jury bribing, probably will not be definitely known until the case comes to trial.

Rumors became prevalent that Franklin had told all he knew of the alleged jury bribing to the grand jury. The prosecution declared the public would be compelled to wait for the opening of the trial before learning what evidence was in the possession of the state.

Franklin when asked if he had made any confession to the grand jury said he would not issue any denial nor would he confirm the rumor.

ABBOTT IN LETTER DECLARES COLONEL WOULD NOT DECLINE

One of Outlook Editors Writes Unofficially to Ex-Governor of New Jersey, Saying Roosevelt Would Take Nomination.

Thorton, N. J., Jan. 30.—That Col. Roosevelt would not more decline to take the nomination for president than he would decline to enlist, if needed, in time of war, is the opinion of Lawrence F. Abbott, one of the editors of the "Outlook," continued in a letter received here today by Edward Stokes, former governor of New Jersey. The letter, received by Mr. Stokes following a visit he made to the "Outlook" office last week, when he had an interview with Roosevelt and suggested that he write a letter or have one written denoting his position relative to the presidency.

Has No Authority.
The letter from Mr. Abbott given out by Mr. Stokes today, is preceded with the statement that Mr. Abbott has no authority to speak for Mr. Roosevelt, but that during the past two years he has had exceptional opportunity to know Col. Roosevelt's views and the workings of his mind. "Mr. Abbott further says: 'I am convinced he does not desire the nomination, and will enter no contest for it.'"

Stubs for Colonel.
New York, Jan. 30.—"I am convinced that Theodore Roosevelt will be the next president of the United States. I hold this view even while he was in Africa and since then the sentiment has been immeasurably increased."

Governor Stubbs of Kansas made this statement today as he left the office of Col. Roosevelt, preparatory to leaving for Washington, where he will stop en route to Kansas.

No Roosevelt Trade.
The governor was asked if he counted himself one of the six governors who have, according to persistent reports, formed a league to further the cause of Roosevelt for president.

"Why I have heard from and exchanged letters with those gentlemen," said Gov. Stubbs, "but there is no special organization or league of any kind." The other governors who have been mentioned among the six are those of Missouri, West Virginia, Michigan, New Hampshire, and Nebraska.

"I have not a thing to say," said Col. Roosevelt, as he walked into his office. Gov. Stubbs left for Washington at one o'clock.

Wilson Is Silent.
Trenton, N. J., Jan. 30.—"The latest statement of Col. Watson admits of no comment from me," said Gov. Woodrow Wilson, when newspaper men asked him if he had any reply to make to the Kentucky editor's statement issued last night.

When asked for his reason for making no comment, the Governor said: "I had hoped that they were self-evident."

He then added: "I am only sorry to have to reject the friendship which, while I lasted, I found interesting and enjoyable."

Letters Show Friendship.
New York, Jan. 30.—The New York Evening Post has sought for the sake of justice to all concerned to secure the publication of the correspondence between Gov. Wilson and Col. Harvey. In that sense it applies to them both. Neither wishes to be put in the position of giving out private letters, but both assented to the publication with the distinct understanding that the initiative came from the Evening Post.

The letters are totally devoid of any trace of rancor and all is peace and harmony according to the correspondence. Both the letters of the governor and of the colonel are polite in nature and show the warmest friendship existing between the two principals and that the protests made were not intended to hurt or injure.

Harmon vs. Bryan.
Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 30.—The name of Judson Harmon of Ohio was filed as a presidential candidate here today while that of Wm. J. Bryan was withdrawn.

ATTEMPT TO REFUTE STATE'S ARGUMENTS

Attorney for Packers in Cross Examination Today Tries to Show Important Differences.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—At the opening of court in the packers' trial today counsel for the defense continued the cross examination of Stinson G. Langher, margin clerk at the G. H. Hammond & Co., plant of the National Packing company in Chicago.

Attorney John Barton Payne, representing Edward Tilden, president of the National Packing company, had the witness read numerous entries from sales books of the corporation, showing the difference in selling price of the dressed beef sold in New York and Boston by different consignees on the same day on which the same test cost had been figured. Numerous comparisons were made in which the selling price varied from 95 to 94 cents a hundred pounds.

The object of this was to refute the government's charge that the margin was a material factor in fixing the selling price. The defense contends that the by-product allowance used in figuring the test cost and adjusting the margins is simply a matter of book-keeping and is not a factor in determining the selling price of beef. Scores of sales for 1907, 1908, 1909 and 1910 were read to the jury to illustrate this point.

CHICKEN FANCIERS MUCH INTERESTED

Philadelphia Man Solves Problem of Keeping Chickens in the City During Winter.

Chicken fanciers in Janesville may be interested in the following tale which comes from Philadelphia:

It has been the custom to think of chicken hatching as a rustic industry. There is, however, no good reason why this industry should not be made even more profitable in the city, where the necessary space can be had. As a matter of fact, the superior shipping facilities as enjoyed by the city man should make it possible for him to do a larger business than can be done by the country man, and a great many urbanites who have come to recognize this fact are now importing their eggs from the country, are hatching them in the city and are shipping the young chicks from the city hatcheries.

Another advantage which the city man has is that of being able to use gas as a means of heat to hatch his chickens. This fact is being used extensively in Philadelphia by Mr. E. Townsend Allen, who lives at 1100 Filbert street.

Some time ago Mr. Allen consulted a gas company as to the possibility of using gas in his hatchery and the company constructed for him a special type gas burner designed to use about 3 cubic feet of gas per hour. By means of a thermostat, which causes the heat to be directed into the water chamber or deflected into the room, alternately, the heat is automatically kept at a uniform temperature. When the water in the tank is once heated, it requires very little heat to take care of radiation loss. The burner has been found so successful that this coming season the plant will double its capacity.

The number of incubators now being operated in this hatchery is twenty-six; the number of eggs to each incubator is 550, and during the seven week season ten hatcheries are kept off in each incubator. It will therefore be seen that the present capacity of this hatchery is 93,000 eggs and that it is proposed to increase it to approximately 187,200. Mr. Allen is an enthusiast in the matter of using gas to heat his incubators. As reasons for his satisfaction with this fuel he gives the following: That with gas it is possible to maintain a perfectly uniform heat; it requires no attention, the filling of the oil lamps and trimming of wicks is avoided, the fire risk due to using oil is eliminated, and the all-night watch at the time of hatching is done away with. Mr. Allen states that since making this installation he has never had to spend a single night at the plant.

Most noteworthy of all the reasons which he gives, however, is the fact that the chicks which he obtained by using gas heat are stronger, healthier and shipped in better condition than any which he had previously hatched.

OLD SOLDIERS WILL BE INTERESTED IN TALE OF LOST ARM

Wisconsin Veteran Forces Canadian Government to Return His Severed Member.

Many Janesville veterans who lost an arm or leg in the great struggle of the sixteen will be interested in the following story from Washington relative to the successful endeavor of Col. Hugh Lewis of Madison, in forcing the Canadian government to return his arm which was cut off during the war days and preserved in pickle in a laboratory. Many know Col. Lewis personally and this will make the story doubly interesting.

Col. Hugh Lewis, the valiant Wisconsin warrior, who is a member of the governor's staff and is now an employee of the house of representatives at Washington, has just been informed of the successful issue of negotiations of a somewhat international character for the recovery of his arm, which was amputated because of a wound received during the civil war.

Col. Lewis, whose war record is one to boast of, was shot in the arm and the wound was of such a character that the army surgeons were called upon to excise the greatest width. The operation was successful and the arm was amputated. The surgeons were pleased with their work, which was typical of the difficulties which the surgeons of that period were confronted, that the arm was preserved and sent to the army medical museum in Washington as an exhibit illustrating the medical history of the period of the civil war.

The arm was kept there until some years ago. At that time the McGill museum in Montreal, which is of the same character as the army medical museum, was destroyed by fire and with it the exhibit illustrating the surgery of the war period. A request was sent to the authorities in Washington for such exhibits as could be spared, and in compliance with the request, Col. Lewis' arm, with other relics of the same character, were sent to the dominion as a loan.

This transfer would probably never have been discovered had it not been for the fact that Col. Lewis a short time ago, suffered an attack of rheumatism, from which he is just recovering. The pain was such that it seemed to be in the missing arm, and, acting upon the suggestion that if the arm might be alleviated, friends of Col. Lewis applied to the army medical museum for the relic. It was found that the arm had been sent to Canada, and Col. Lewis upon being notified, taking the ground that the United States authorities had no right to make such a disposition of his arm, which had been placed in the custody of the museum from patriotic motives, demanded that it be returned.

After an interchange of communications the arm was sent back to Washington by the authorities of the Canadian museum, and turned over to Col. Lewis, who now has it in his possession. Fortunately the incident called for no official international transaction, but undoubtedly Col. Lewis would have to secure his missing member had it been necessary.

PLAN REGULAR WORK IN PUBLIC SPEAKING

Extemporaneous Classes Will Be Formed at High School Next Week—Prepare for Contest.

At the opening exercises at the high school this morning Prof. H. C. Bush outlined the public speaking plans for the remainder of the winter term and called for the names of students who will enter the declamatory, oratorical and poetical contests.

It was announced that the first work in extemporaneous speaking would be started next week and would be continued for a number of weeks, according to the usual custom. The students will be divided into classes and will meet once a week for this form of work. Each student will be allowed to select whatever topic he or she cares to talk on and must hand in to the teacher the week previous to the meeting of the class. The freshmen will have a separate contest and the best speaker will be given a prize. The members of the other three classes are eligible for the Recorder medal at the contest which will be held later.

The names of the students who will enter the declamatory contest must be handed in by the end of the present week in order to arrange for the spring declamatory events. Students entering the oratorical and poetry contest may hand in their names at any time. The six high school debaters are excused from the extemporaneous speaking work, but for all other students the work is required.

Illustrating the Effect of Food.

The remarkable adaptability of Grape-Nuts Food to stomachs so disordered that they will reject everything else, is illustrated by the case of a woman in Racine, Wis.

We then got some Grape-Nuts food, and you can imagine my surprise and delight when I found that I could eat it with a relish and without the slightest distress.

"When the doctor heard of it he told me to take several small portions each day, because he feared I would grow tired of it as I had of all other food."

"But to his surprise, (and that of everybody else), I did not tire of Grape-Nuts, and became better day by day till after some weeks, my stomach entirely recovered and I was able to eat anything my appetite craved."

"My nerves, which had become so weakened that I feared I would become insane, were also restored by the Grape-Nuts food in connection with Postum which has become our table beverage. I appreciate most gratefully and thankfully the good that your food preparations have done me, and shall be glad to answer any letters inquiring as to my experience."

LONG TIME RIVALS
TO PLAY TOMORROWJanesville-Deloit. Game Finally Settled on to Take Place at Deloit
Tomorrow Night.

Postponed from the 19th to the 20th, then to some later date, the Deloit-Janesville basketball game has finally been definitely settled for tomorrow night at Deloit. Unforeseen and unavoidable accidents have interfered with the proposed game so many times that it got to be almost a habit to put it off, but now the time has come and the fans of both schools will find out which is the better team. After a strenuous practice last night in the gymnasium at the high school, Coach McElroy was very hopeful of Janesville's being able to defeat Deloit by a big score. Although the local boys have had but one game so far this season, they are in excellent fighting trim and intend to make this one of the long list of victories which they are determined shall put them in the championship class before the end of the term.

If possible, arrangements will be made to have the second game of the two schools played also on the same evening. This game has not yet been definitely decided upon, but if it is played the Janesville second team will have a hard game on their hands as the Deloit second team contains several disqualified first team men. It is not known how many will accompany the team to the Lake City tomorrow to witness the game, but it is thought that at least fifty will go along.

"We have the dates now definitely settled upon," said Mr. McDaniels this afternoon, "and I can assure the citizens of Janesville some good fast events. We open on Decoration day with amateur and professional events and already I have taken the matter up with some of the fast boys in the motorcycle game and they have promised to enter. The others days will also be interesting and we shall make arrangements for special races for the Fourth which will bring good men from all parts of the country. Tackling it all in the Janesville track will be heard from in the motorcycle world this coming summer." Mr. McDaniels handled the races for the local association last season, which proved so successful, and having the early start this season and the prestige of 1911, they should prove successful.

TOTAL REDUCTIONS MADE IN ASSESSMENT OVER FIFTY THOUSAND

Board of Review Completed Its Corrections on Assessment Rolls Today—Considered One Hundred Appeals.

Reductions in the reassessed value of Janesville property totaling approximately $50,000 were made by the board of review which completed its correction of the assessment rolls today. Of this amount $40,000 was on residence property including a few vacant lots, $11,700 was on merchants and manufacturers' stock, $5,000 was on business property, and $3,000 on personal property, such as household furniture. In one instance the valuation of merchants' and manufacturers' stock was raised $28,000, and in another $5,000. Over one hundred appeals were made to the board for reductions in the reassessment valuations. As the foregoing figures demonstrate, the greatest cuts were made in the assessment of the smaller residence properties; the reason being that such kind of property has a large market, the assessments made the valuations on it slightly higher in proportion than on the larger, unsalable property. The latter were a hard proposition for the board to pass upon. As there is no market for them they could not assess them at the cost of construction.

The board is of the opinion and believes that the people of Janesville after the smoke has blown away, will regard the assessment as the most equitable that the city has ever had. The work was done by experts thoroughly familiar with the fields assigned to them, and though sometimes showing an error, the work was done fairly and fairly. Business property was assessed according to so much the front foot and estimate made of depreciation, condition of repair, and age.

It is worthy of note that but one manufacturer appealed from the valuations made, and he later withdrew it. The manufacturers' property was raised more by the reassessment than any other class.

The board members speak very highly of the work of H. V. Cowles, who superintended the reassessment, and also of that of his assistants.

OPENING OF WAREHOUSES EASES COMMISSIONERS' WORK

About One-Third Less County Aid Required Since Tobacco Season Opened—Women Find Employment.

About one-third less county aid has been required since the opening of the tobacco sorting season, according to Poor Commissioner Ann Anderson. Five or six families which up to that time, required more or less assistance from the county, are now self supporting. Women and girls are able to secure work and with their earnings to add substantially to the family income, which otherwise would be far too scant.

HORSE THIEF GIVEN ONE YEAR SENTENCE

John Hoffman Pleads Guilty to Stealing and Selling Horse and Buggy of Frank Erdman, a Farmer.

John Hoffman, arrested yesterday afternoon on the charge of stealing a horse and buggy belonging to Frank Erdman, a farmer residing one-half mile west of Footville, this morning was sentenced by Judge James F. Field to one year at hard labor in the state prison at Waupun.

Hoffman waived his right to an examination and filed with District Attorney Stanley Dunwiddie a petition that he be permitted to plead guilty at once.

Hoffman had been working for his board at the home of Mr. Erdman and yesterday, while Mr. and Mrs. Erdman were in Milwaukee, he hitched up his horse to a buggy on runners and drove to this city, where he sold the rig to C. J. Ormsbee for $50 cash.

With this money in his possession he proceeded to have what he considered a good time and, going to the Phillips House saloon, set up the drinks for himself and all comers.

Frank Wolfe, a neighbor of Mr. Erdman who had been requested to keep a watch over things at the latter's home during his absence got wind of the sale of the horse and other farm things living near Footville also had their suspicions aroused when they saw Hoffman drive away with the animal.

The police were informed that something was wrong and Officer Champlin after a short search located Hoffman who was placed under arrest. He was found to have spent $11 out of the $50 he had received.

Mr. Ormsbee at first refused to give up the stolen horse, but later changed his mind. He had attempted to sell it to another party, who refused to pay more than $1 down, until he satisfied himself as to the validity of the transaction. Hoffman had represented that the horse had been given him as payment for his services. The horse and buggy are said to be worth $200.

Mr. Erdman did not return from Milwaukee until late this morning and found that all the difficulties had been cleared up in his absence.

Hoffman, who is a native of Germany, came to this country about twelve years ago, and had been working on the Erdman place since last fall. He is unmarried and has no relatives in the United States. His father and step-mother live in Germany.

Since coming to this country he has worked most of the time as a fireman on the Great Lakes steamers. He holds a membership card in the Marine Firemen, Oilers and Water-tenders Benevolent Association and carried a copy of their constitution and by-law in his pocket. Hoffman declared that he had never been arrested before on anything more serious than a drunkenness charge, and, with tears in his eyes, declared that this was the first and last theft he would commit.

TUNNEL UNDERNEATH HUDSON COMPLETED

Opening Important Step in Construction of Catskill Aqueduct Which Is Sixty Miles Long.

New York, Jan. 30.—Mayor Gaynor, accompanied by members of the Board of Water Supply and a number of invited guests, went up to Storm King today to take part in the celebration of the completion of the tunnel work for the Catskill Aqueduct under the Hudson River between Storm King and Break Neck.

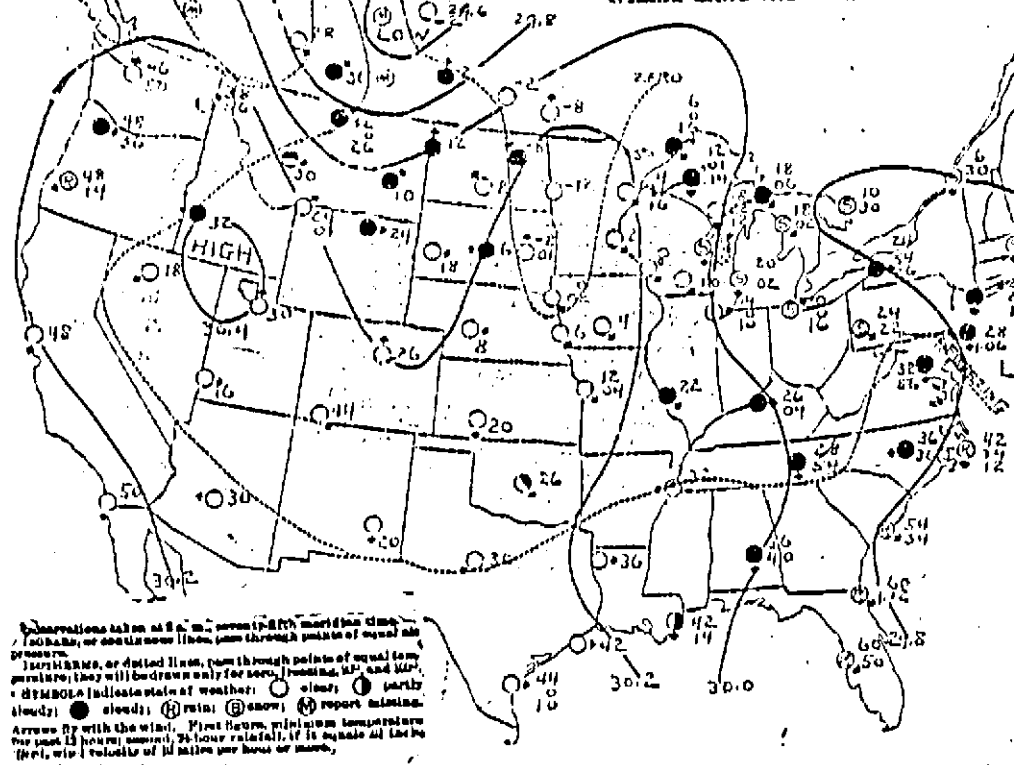

The opening of the tunnel marks a most important step in the advancement of the great Catskill aqueduct towards completion. The carrying of the aqueduct, which will have the capacity of a small river, beneath the Hudson river and the irregular country adjacent known as the Highlands presented an extremely difficult problem. The tunnel is 500 feet below the surface of the river and extends from the famous headland of the Hudson known as Storm King to a point on the opposite shore called Break Neck.

The building of the Catskill aqueduct, which is to afford the great city of New York an adequate supply of pure water for ages to come has been pronounced by engineers to be a greater undertaking than the building of the Panama canal. The aqueduct will cost about $102,000,000, which is in excess of the estimated cost of the canal across the Isthmus. The aqueduct will be sixty miles in length. It will carry thirty times as much water as did the famous aqueducts of Rome combined. It will afford an outlet to twelve reservoirs constructed to hold the enormous flow of water from the various watersheds of the Catskill and adjacent hills. The Ashokan reservoir alone will have a capacity of 170,000,000 gallons, or more than the three lakes of Killarney combined.

Why the Passengers Kicked.
A motorbus while traveling in New road recently was struck in the rear by a tram car, and the impact forced it on to another bus, which was stationary. The latter mounted the pavement and smashed some railings. Passengers in each bus complained of cuts from broken glass.—London Daily News.

HEART AND HOME TALKS BY BARBARA BOYD

Some Amusing Games For Evening Gatherings.

OFTEN a little gathering enjoys some rather light, trifling diversion, when anything serious would be something of a bore. Often too, the hostess hasn't the time to prepare elaborate games, especially if a conversation draught, or music palls, some of the following amusements may prove diverting.

Let some one be chosen as a bird-catcher, and the others each take the name of some bird. Any bird can be selected except the owl, but no one is allowed to choose this. The players then seat themselves in a circle, all except the bird-catcher, with their hands on their knees. The bird-catcher stands in the centre and tells a story about birds, taking especial care to mention those which he knows have been chosen by the various members of the company. As the names of the different birds are mentioned, the one representing that bird must respond by imitating its note. But when the owl is mentioned, all must put their hands behind their chairs and keep them there until the bird-catcher comes to the name of the next bird in the story. Whenever the bird-catcher uses the phrase, "All the birds," the players give their various imitations together. The player who forgets to respond when his name is called, or doesn't know how to imitate the bird he has chosen, or fails to put his hands behind his chair when the name of the owl is called, becomes the bird-catcher.

The blind postman is another entertaining game. A postmaster-general must be appointed, whose duty it is to write down the names of the players, and the names of the cities they have chosen to represent. The postman is blindfolded and led to the middle of the room, and the other players seat themselves around him. The postmaster begins to announce that a letter has been sent from one city to another, say from Philadelphia to Baltimore, for instance. As he mentions the names of the places, the two who represent these two cities must rise silently and change chairs. As soon as he discovers what is taking place, the postman must try to seat himself in one of the vacant chairs. The person displaced becomes postman.

For a guessing match arrange upon a table and number various articles of familiar use. Give to the players pencils and paper, and allow a certain time for answering. Among the questions to be asked might be:

- What is the height of a man's silk hat?
- How many seeds in an apple or orange?
- What is the weight of an egg?
- How many peanuts in a pint?
- How many spots in a pack of cards?
- Draw the face of a clock.
- How many pins in a paper?
- How many safety matches in a box?
- What is the exact diameter of a half dollar?
- How many spokes in a wheel?

It does not do, of course, to exhibit all the objects to be guessed, or else the answer could be seen at a glance. So that this guessing has some of them as for instance a box of matches, so that the guessing can have something to judge by, otherwise it would be just wild guessing.

Another game that is amusing is for a leader to be chosen who begins by saying to the first of the players seated about him, "I am sending you to New Zealand, or whatever place he may choose, what will you bring me from there?" The player is given a minute or two minutes to decide upon beforehand, to tell what he will bring, which must begin with the initials of the place to which he was sent. For instance from New Zealand he might bring nice zebras. If sent to Iceland, he could bring Indians. The fun comes in when places beginning with odd letters are chosen, and also the funny answers that will be given on the spur of the moment.

The Evening Chit-Chat BY RUTH CAMERON

TWO friends of mine who had been kept apart by a foolish misunderstanding for over two years, not the other day, explained away the misunderstanding, picked up the romance where it had dropped, became engaged, and are now in a fair way to be happily married.

And yet they are both grooving even in the midst of the happiness for the needlessly lost two years.

I say "needlessly" because if one of these two had taken the pains to write half a dozen extra words on a certain occasion, the wretched misunderstanding would never have come about. And these extra words were simply his name and address, and they should have been written on the outside of an envelope.

When the two graduated from college about two years ago, the feeling of admiration and attraction which each felt towards the other, had not been put into definite words. Much to her delight, however, he did ask permission to write, which was gladly granted. They exchanged several letters and then a letter of hers remained unanswered. She waited hopefully at first, and then as the long weeks grew into months—you know how long they can be when they are measured by the painfully postponed, but ultimately disappointing visit of the postman—she finally decided that his silence meant he was weary of the friendship and the correspondence, and tried to forget him.

Meanwhile he, on his side, had interpreted her failure to respond to his letter as a sign that she was weary of the correspondence and the friendship and he had tried to forget her.

How came it that there were two unanswered letters? Why simply in the usual way. He had made a slight mistake in the address, and his letter, not having any return address on the envelope, had been sent to the dead letter office.

Now neither met anyone who could fill the place of the lost friend, and fortunately the feeling of admiration and attraction which each felt towards the other, had not been put into definite words. Much to her delight, however, he did ask permission to write, which was gladly granted. They exchanged several letters and then a letter of hers remained unanswered. She waited hopefully at first, and then as the long weeks grew into months—you know how long they can be when they are measured by the painfully postponed, but ultimately disappointing visit of the postman—she finally decided that his silence meant he was weary of the friendship and the correspondence, and tried to forget him.

Just the other day I chanced to meet a woman who some months ago offered to do me a favor. I accepted her kind offer and expressed my hope regarding the matter. I never heard from her again and supposed she had changed her mind. Our chance meeting brought about a pleasant surprise. She found that she had answered my letter, but I never received the answer. Naturally she, as well as I, was wondering at the silence. All that would have been avoided if she had had her name and address on the outside of her letter.

Again I wrote twice to a treasured friend and both times made a careless mistake in the address. I had no answer. I was just deciding that the correspondence was no longer welcome when my letters came back to me, making everything clear.

Just yesterday a girl told me of a Christmas gift which went adrift in this way and of a grievous and puzzled friend.

I don't doubt that every day just such misunderstandings arise. Of course, there are times when letters mysteriously disappear even when safeguarded in this way, but I know these occasions are infinitely few.

The return address is letter insurance. The time you take in writing it, or the money spent to have it printed, is the premium you pay. The security against misunderstanding is the value you receive.

And from all I've heard and experienced in this direction, I can assure you it's decidedly worth while insurance.

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING.

Need of Foot-Proof Inventions. Points on Kitchen Equipment.

By Alice E. Whitaker.

The editor of an important newspaper writes of the need of foot-proof farm machinery. He says that it is wonderful what an ignorant immigrant can do to a potato digger or a self binder. Also that it is much easier to invent a machine that will do a certain kind of work properly than one that will withstand improper treatment.

This man is beginning to see one great reason why housekeepers are slow to give up the broom for the vacuum cleaner and why steamers that will cook a whole dinner over one gas burner are soon out of commission. Also why washing machines for both clothes and dishes so seldom take the place of human hands and why inventions so soon to the junk pile. Foot-proof machinery is as much needed in the house as on the farm and will be until a higher grade of help will take up domestic work. Whether it will ever do so is a question.

It appears that the best material for kitchen utensils has not been discovered, for housekeepers seem to be more or less dissatisfied with all kinds now made. The iron pots and kettles of long ago are too heavy, copper utensils need constant cleaning, tin lasts but a short time and is unfit for some uses, earthen ware is too cumbersome and breaks easily. If gas is used with enamel ware carefully, while enamel heat chips off dangerously.

Aluminum is light and durable but as the housewife notes its discoloration from different foods she grows suspicious and now and then makes a protest against it even though assured by authority that it is harmless.

The kitchen is no longer a dumping ground for old furniture and no more can it be sold of a cast off table or chair that it is good enough for the workshop of the house. Indeed, a modern kitchen and its furnishings may cost as much as the reception room and its fine belongings.

Our foremothers scoured the tops of their kitchen tables with sand and they were often white as snow. Table oil cloth has long been used for table covers and for hot dishes and cooking utensils a small zinc covered table is convenient where there is much cooking done but it is not essential. The latest kitchen tables have hard white enamel tops so thick as not to break easily. These tables cost from eight to nine dollars.

The well equipped kitchen has a light from the ceiling in the middle of the room and at least one side light. Sink, table and stove must be well lighted if good work is to be done.

A rag for a dish cloth and a piece of an old garment for a dish towel are no longer tolerated. The progressive housewife would as soon put rags on the dining table as to neglect to provide homelike tidiness for kitchen uses and to have such places washed and scoured every day that they are used and also sent to the laundry weekly.

Just a word about the indiscriminate use of lye about the kitchen plumbing. If lye is turned down the kitchen sink by mistake it can be dissolved in the pipe and sent along by plenty of boiling water. If lye is poured down it combines with the grease to make soap and an obstruction that often means calling a plumber. If clear hot water is poured down the sink waste pipe daily there will be no grease accumulated.

HOUSEHOLD SANITATION.

We hear much of the dust enemy and we should hear and heed the repeated warnings given us in regard to the evils of dust. The children in our schools today will know much better how to keep clean, sanitary houses than did our grandmothers, providing they follow the teaching. A grain of dust too small to be noticed by the unaided eye may be the abode of hundreds of microbes which can cause us trouble. The vacuum cleaner is doing good work to wipe out dust and keep us free from such exposure to disease, but where one may have the advantage of a cleaner hundreds of thousands are obliged to wield the broom and dust cloth.

When sweeping, it is best to have a damp broom and something like dampened paper or tea leaves to keep the dust from flying. One can by a little planning keep and dry the tea leaves, moistening them as needed.

In sweeping a carpet, a good plan is to sweep and take up the dust from each breadth or two, instead of spreading it all over the room.

It is much more sanitary, besides much easier, to have rugs and bare floors. The rugs can be taken outside and cleaned and the floors wiped, so that the room is free from dust.

The dust cloth is another useful article to consider; those patented affairs that have some kind of oil in the weave are good because they hold the dust and keep it from scattering back to the floor. When using an ordinary cloth, it may be dampened slightly with furniture polish and it will hold the dust much better.

Ventilation of the home is another important matter. Cold air is not necessarily pure, and our lungs need fresh, pure oxygen in order to make and keep pure, good blood. Those who sleep in unheated, unventilated bedrooms to save the fuel bill are piling up a good fat bank account for the family doctor as well as making future suffering for themselves. No body unfed by fresh air can withstand disease, and the little busy microbes get in good work on such a host.

REAL ESTATE SIGNS.

I HAVE written before of the offensive advertising along railroad lines which makes looking out of the window in traveling, a constant annoyance; instead of getting rest and joy in passing scenes, our eyes are affronted and our thoughts distracted by a succession of monstrous, hideous signs.

In similar ways real estate advertising detracts from the pleasure of viewing our cities and towns. Here in Washington, property along our beautiful streets and avenues is so conspicuously and unattractively advertised as to give a stranger the impression of a general exodus.

You can count from one to eleven big real estate boards set on stilts at various degrees of incline on almost any place of property in the market. One or two such exhibitions in a block would not be so irritating, but when a great number are displayed in this way, the visitor must get the impression that the whole town is for sale or for rent.

This crude system of advertising real estate is intended to promote, it certainly suggests that the business is overdone, if it does not carry with it the sadder thought of how much comfortable shelter is going to waste when so many are suffering for it. It must be that the real estate business would gain in general good will by adopting a system of small, inconspicuous directories placed where those who are interested might read, but not in a way to force the passing public to observe how long and insistently certain property has stood on the market. Such a plan would not discredit a neighborhood. What a change it would create in the appearance of a city! What a relief to tired eyes and tired minds trying to escape the advertiser!

OATMEAL OR WHEAT MONODIET IN DIABETES.

The oatmeal cure in diabetes advocated by Van Norden has been proved in Europe and America. Now the Medical Germania says that wheat has been found to serve the same purpose, though oatmeal is preferable. During the past two years many reports of readers of these Hints have been published showing that the monodiet has a general application in the treatment of diseases and that the milk cure, meat cure, grape cure, and others, each suitable in certain cases only, are to be considered as exemplifications of the monodietic principle.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

A full pint of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of an obstinate cough more quickly, usually ending it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for croup, whooping cough, sore lungs, asthma, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This is just laxative enough to help cure a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant.

The effect of pinex and sugar syrup on the inflamed membrane is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway-white pine extract, rich in quaiacel and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe is now used by thousands of housewives throughout the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, but the old, successful formula has never been equaled.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Chocolate? Do you care whether your food is clean or not? It's made in thrifty Holland; under the most sanitary conditions—and is delivered to you in the original germ-proof cans—twice as strong as ordinary cocoa. MRS. SCOTT'S SUFFERING OVER

Doctors Advised An Operation. How She Escaped Told By Herself.

Buckner, Mo.—"For more than a year I suffered agonies from female troubles and the doctors at last decided there was no help for me unless I went to the hospital for an operation. I was awfully against that operation, and as a last resort wrote to you for special advice and I told you just what I suffered with bearing down pains, backache, shooting pains in my left side, and at times I could not touch my foot to the floor without screaming. I was short of breath, had smothered spells, felt dull and draggy all the time, I could not do any work, and oh how I dreaded to have an operation.

"I received a letter full of kind advice, which I followed, and if I had only written here a year ago I would have been saved so much suffering, for today I am a well woman. I am now keeping house again and do every bit of my own work. Everyone in this part of the country knows it was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that has restored me to health, and everywhere I go I recommend it to suffering women."—Mrs. LIZZIE SCOTT, Buckner, Mo.

The Only Way To Make Pie Crust Short Is To Cut the Shortening Into the Flour

Next time you make a pie or cake try cutting the shortening into the flour with a knife—if you do not already follow this method.

When you first use Christian's Matchless Flour in making a pie or cake you will be delightfully surprised at the rapidity with which you can cut the shortening into Matchless Flour.

This is due to the fact that the milling of Matchless Flour is rather a digging than a crushing of the wheat berries and as a result you have a finely granulated instead of a dust-like flour.

The winter wheat in Matchless Flour gives you the nutty flavor that you pay an extra price for in so-called "pastry" flours.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

THE WAITER.

By HOWARD L. RANN.

A waiter in a tuxedo.

The waiter is an affable role of ancient civility who serves in a humble capacity and is banished to the side of the sidewalk for waiting in a tuxedo. The waiter is a person of shrewd financial instincts. He will take a $5 bill and return with enough small change to start a pop corn stand, which he will deposit at your elbow with a look of complete detachment from worldly things. If you wring the last struggling dime from the plate and pocket it with an abstracted air, his expression will not change until you drop in the next day for a five-cent lunch, and what he will do to you on that occasion is likely to give you a suffocating sensation and a rush of blood to the head. Nearly all of our leading waiters were born in France or in close proximity thereto, and are imported for the purpose of translating the bill of fare for people who are accustomed to plain home cooking and plenty of it. The waiter can always tell whether a man has ever been outside of the county he was born in before by the manner in which he rotates his food and pronounces the word "bouillon." If he utters it through his nose and winds up with an apologetic sneeze, the waiter doesn't offer to act as an interpreter. Never forget to tip a waiter unless you are just as well dressed as he is, for he has a very critical and supercilious glance, which will make a $15 suit feel four sizes too large.

Mystified.

A hunky mule is had enough when harnessed to a rig. But the hardest thing on earth to drive is a bottle-fed blind pig.

The broadhead Independent has the following:—"On Friday of last week, our freight accommodation was nearing the closing work this side of Janesville, and the great rate down grade, the rear truck wheels of a car were discovered to be off the track. The train was stopped just in time to avert an accident of some character on the trestle work mentioned."

To be thin is the latest fashionable feminine ambition. Heraway necks are all the rage, and young ladies paint their rounded shoulders with sepiol wrinkles.
The circuit court adjourned yesterday on account of the freezing up of the steam pipes used to warm the building.
John Wilsons and E. T. Foote and their wives started for the East last week.
The condition of affairs between the United States government and that of Venezuela is said to be rather critical. The trouble is that the government of Venezuela refuses to be responsible for, or rather shows no disposition to observe, its treaty stipulations.

I flash my roll and freely give to help abject poor to live, and make their lives a song, when I feel sure the Daily Wave will print a list of those who gave to aid the hungry throng. It is a noble thing to stand and weep in catastrophe, to comfort grief, to ease distress—when we are sure the daily press will chronicle the facts. The widow wails, her hands she wrings! I go with healing in my wings and dry her bitter tears; I give her children hats and shoes—when I feel sure that in the News a full account appears.
